

Mark Harris <mark@adventureenablers.com>

2022 Shenanduro - Rain Delay

1 message

Shenanduro <noreply@runsignup.com>
Reply-To: Shenanduro <info@adventureenablers.com>
To: Mark Harris <mark@adventureenablers.com>

Thu, May 5, 2022 at 3:35 PM

Shenanduro

Welp, it looks like the weather may have gotten the better of us. The forecast is for sustained rain on Friday through Saturday, heavy at times, and highs in the upper 40s. Because the Shenanduro is supposed to be a funfest and not a sufferfest, we are moving it to May 21st. Same location, same schedule, same everything except hopefully the weather. This will help avoid trashing the trails, getting stuck in muddy parking lots, and freezing your butts off for 6-12 hours. So what does that mean for you? Here are the options:

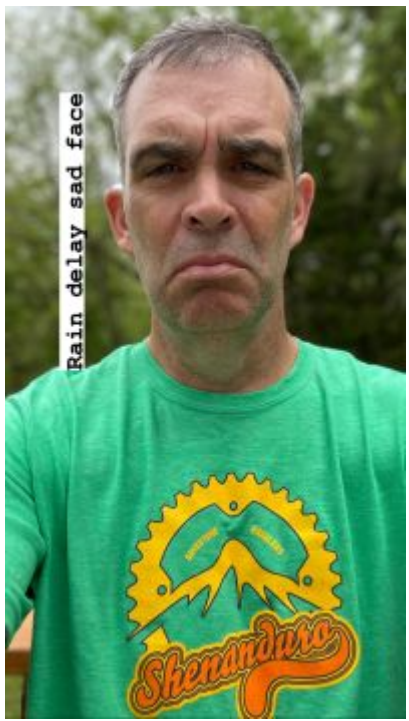

1. Do nothing. Show up on May 21st and rip the sweet single-track like nothing happened.
2. Defer your registration to the 2023 addition of the Shenanduro (usually the first Saturday in May). Let us know if you want to do this at info@adventureenablers.com, and we will make that happen.
3. If you really cannot make it, we can offer a refund minus the registration processing fee. Let us know at info@adventureenablers.com, and we will make that happen.

Registration will remain open through May 21, 2022, so if you had some friends on the fence, you have another 2 weeks to convince them to come out and join you. Pass along the code "raindate" and they will get 15% off.

Sorry for the delay, we hope you understand, and we will see you all in just over 2 weeks. BTW the race shirts are marvelous.

Mark and Margo

Adventure Enablers

Shenanduro
Powered by GiveSignup | RunSignup, © 2022 Unsubscribe